

THERMOPHORETIC PROTECTION OF RETICLES

Abstract of the Disclosure

A thermophoretic source may be contained within the packaging of a reticle during transport or otherwise to 5 protect the reticle from particle contamination. For example, in advanced lithography technologies, very small particles may be thermophoretically attracted away from the reticle during transport so that cleaning on arrival may not be necessary in some cases.